

Community

Bringing schools, families, and students together to create a new generation of responsible digital citizens

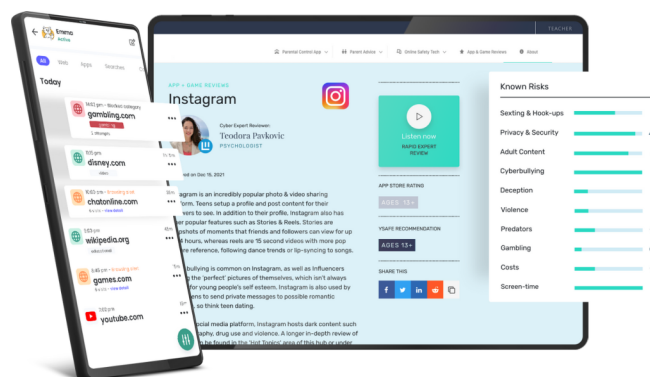

A holistic approach to digital wellbeing.

The shift to online learning, socializing, and entertainment has changed where and how students spend their time.

Schools and families must all do their part to lay the groundwork for successful online learning and digital citizenship, in and outside of the classroom.

How Community helps parents and schools manage students' online lives:

- ✓ Provides families with resources that enable them to be strong digital stewards for their children.
- ✓ Gives parents greater control over activity on childrens' personal devices.
- ✓ Bridges the gap between schools and homes to inform parents about what's happening in the classroom.
- ✓ Enables parents to easily access digital education resources.
- ✓ Offers webinars featuring renowned psychologists and digital wellness experts who share best practices for online safety.

The shift to online learning has changed the way schools teach and the way students learn.

Community pillars

The Community Digital Wellness Program bridges the knowledge gap for families and unites schools and communities in an effort to make online learning safe and effective for all.
